

easyHotel Launches Detox Suite for Love Island Leavers

- Windowless rooms to avoid paparazzi
- No access to TV and wifi to be cut off the outside world
- easyHotel fake tan available on request easyHotel, the super budget hotel group, has today launched the ultimate relaxation experience targetted at those unlucky-in-love Islanders leaving the villa this summer.

easyHotel's new Detox Suites are the perfect answer for singletons leaving the island wanting some peace and quiet. Designed in true minimalist style, the suites are windowless to guarantee privacy from prying eyes and paparazzi drones. TV is not included so Islanders are not subjected to watching the drama unfolding among the remaining contestants, nor is there wifi thus removing the temptation to check the trolls. easyHotel even has its very own brand of fake tan available on request so guests can maintain that tangerine glow.

Neil Fidler, Senior Bev Executive at easyHotel, said:

"After weeks of having every movement scrutinised and each word analysed by the British public, what could be better than a few nights completely hidden from the world? It's time to go factor zero and accept that it is what it is. We hope to be welcoming some Islanders soon but the suite is by no means limited to contestants – it is available on request for those seeking down time at easyHotels across the UK."
